TO BE ALLOWED TWO WEEKS

Long Christmas Vacation For Rushville School Children.

The Rushville school board, at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon decided to have a two week's vacation for the coming holidays. The schools will close on Dec. 19, and open on January 5. This will give an opportunity to attend the State Teachers' association at Indianapolis, Dec. 22, 23, 24, and give those living at a distance a pleasant visit at their homes.

NATIONAL GATE COMPANY FORMED

Incorporated For $32,000 and Stock is Subscribed by all Local Men

—Promises Much.

OPENS FACTORY ABOUT JAN. 1

The National Gate company is the title of a newly organized firm backed by local capitol and local men. The company is incorporated for $32,000 and will take over the business and patents on the gate known as the Peoples Gate.

J. N. Neal the inventor of the three gates to be manufactured here was forced to sell out because of ill health and the local company was formed. The company promises to develop into one of the big industries of the city and the large building in the rear of the Davis Brothers barn has been secured and it is here that the gates will be manufactured. The work to arouse the school children to enter the fight against tuberculosis is being done under the auspices of Walter D. Thurber, secretary of the Indiana Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The story read to the children says in part:

"A little 'bug' as the doctors sometimes call it, although its proper name is 'tubercle bacillus,' is now recognized the world over as the most deadly and powerful living thing. It is very small. Thousands of them could go through the eye of a needle without touching the sides.

"And yet this little bug kills nearly 300,000 men, women and children in the United States every year. It kills more people than smallpox, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria and all other contagious diseases combined.

"The stock holders of the newly formed organization are as follows: John S. Davis, A. N. McGinnis, Oneal Brothers, A. L. Winship, Charles A. Frazee, George W. Campbell, W. H. McMillin, W. A. Mull, Albert J. Kuhn, G. A. Looney, Randall T. VanValkenburg.

SHE YIELDS TO REQUESTS

Mrs. Ruth Tevis-Spencer to Sing in Old Melodies Concert.

Yielding to the requests of scores of admirers, Mrs. Arnold Spencer yesterday consented to sing at the Old Time Melodies Concert, to be given at English's Theater Dec. 18, for the benefit of The Star Santa Claus Fund, says the Indianapolis Star. Mrs. Spencer will sing "The Last Rose of Summer." She will appear in costume. It will be recalled that her singing of old-time favorites at last year's concert was one of the decided musical triumphs.

TIM MCGRATH ARRESTED.

Tim McGrath was arrested last night on complaint from his wife. She alleged that he came home intoxicated and proceeded to clean out the place. He will have a hearing to-night before Squire Kratzer.

After allowing a big batch of claims yesterday, the county commissioners adjourned until Tuesday, December 16.

CHILDREN HEAR ABOUT BAD BUG

Story Dealing With Tuberculosis is Read to Pupils of Grade Schools Here and Other Places.

COMPOSITIONS TO FOLLOW

Winner of County Contest Eligible to Enter State Contest— Medals as Prizes.

The pupils in the schools here from the fourth to the eighth grade heard the story, entitled "The Most Powerful Bug in the World" yesterday. The same story was read to many other school children in other portions of the country.

The story dealt with tuberculosis, and in addition to being read here it was read to the grade children, from the fourth to the eighth inclusive throughout the state of Indiana. At the same time a composition contest was instituted. The work to arouse the school children to enter the fight against tuberculosis is being done under the auspices of Walter D. Thurber, secretary of the Indiana Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The story read to the children says in part:

"A little 'bug' as the doctors sometimes call it, although its proper name is 'tubercle bacillus,' is now recognized the world over as the most deadly and powerful living thing. It is very small. Thousands of them could go through the eye of a needle without touching the sides.

"And yet this little bug kills nearly 300,000 men, women and children in the United States every year. It kills more people than smallpox, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria and all other contagious diseases combined.

"The germs which cause tuberculosis are taken into the system through the air we breathe or on the apples and other food we eat, or in the milk we drink. A consumptive, who is a person who has consumption or tuberculosis, spits on the sidewalk or in the school house or postoffice or store or some public place and this helps spread the disease. Every little particle of spit contains millions of these germs which dry up and then float about in the air.

"Fresh air and sunshine are fatal to these germs. Everyone should get plenty of fresh air in our bedrooms and school rooms more than any other place. It is better to put on more covers and sleep with the window open no matter how cold it is, than to close up the window tight and not get any fresh air until morning. The little germs that cause tuberculosis thrive in bad air.

"The money needed to fight this deadly little germ is raised by the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, which are to be placed on the backs of letters and Christmas packages and New Year's greetings. They sell for one cent each and every one should buy as many as he can afford."

The children who heard the story yesterday will be asked to write a composition on the subject "The Most Powerful Bug in the World" later in the week. The winner of each county contest will be given a bronze medal and will be eligible to enter the state contest, the winners of which will be given gold and silver medals.

Commandery Stated Meeting.

Rushville Commandery, No. 49 K. T. will have a stated conclave Wednesday evening at which time the annual election of officers will take place. A good attendance is desired.

FATE OF TEMPLE UNCERTAIN YET

Larger Stockholders of Masonic Association Want to Sell Out and Disband Organization.

MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT

They Agree to Remain in if Some of Their Stock is Taken up by Masons Not in Association.

The meeting of the stockholders of the Phoenix Masonic Temple association at Watson, Titworth & Green's offices in the Miller law building last night closed with the definite agreement that a committee from the association should canvass the members of the Masonic lodge to determine if any were willing to take some shares of stock in the association and thus relieve some of the larger share holders who feel that the stock is a burden.

Although it is said to definitely settled that the Masonic Lodge will rent the second floor of the building, if one is erected on the site of the Masonic Temple that burned down last summer, some of the stockholders would rather sell the site and distribute the funds among the share holders.

The meeting was held last night to determine whether the association should rebuild the Temple. It was concluded that it would be rebuilt, an architect was employed, plans were drawn, the Blue Lodge voted to rent the second floor at an increased rental, but some discussion came up over lighting fixtures, with the result that a meeting of the stockholders was called last night to determine on a definite program.

The sense of the large stockholders last night was to dispose of the site and divide up rather than rebuild, thus making an investment that might not pay at once. The building was said not to be a paying investment. The larger stockholders finally agreed to leave some money in the association if some other Masons would relieve them of some of the burden and take some of the stock off their hands.

They are willing to make some sacrifices, it is said, in order to see the structure rebuilt and are offering their stock for three-fourths of par value.

As a matter of civic pride most Rushville people would regret it very much if the Masonic Temple were not rebuilt. It was a building of which the city could be justly proud, and it is understood that if it is rebuilt, the new building will be one of greater beauty and value.

Aside from their desire to do anything for the betterment of the city, many Masons are very desirous of having a home here. They feel that as strong a lodge as the one here should have a home at all costs, especially after they have enjoyed one for ten years.

In spite of all of these inducements, members of the Knights Templar commandery, fear that they might be compelled to give up their charter because there is no other place in the city big enough to accommodate the commandery.

TIMELY SUBJECT TONIGHT

"Shall We Know Each Other in Heaven?" Baptist Sermon Topic.

Unusual interest is being shown in the series of protracted meetings now holding sway at the First Baptist church. The Rev. S. G. Huntington will preach tonight on a topic which is expected to attract widespread attention. The subject of his sermon will be: "Shall We Know Each Other in Heaven?" A large crowd last night heard the sermon on the subject, "The Seal of the Holy Spirit." The song service begins promptly at 7:15 o'clock and the preaching at 7:30.

League That Has Better Reputation Than Any Will Take Place of Santa Claus Fund.

PLAN'S SIMPLE AS CAN BE

Army of Unknown Has No Grips, Signs or Pass Words, or Closing or Opening Odes.

GOOD FELLOWS TO DO THE WORK

Since the Yuletide spirits is in the air, it is time that the army of Good Fellows in Rushville and Rush county was mustering in.

The Good Fellows known no sex. Men, women and children may join their throngs to help spread the Christmas cheer throughout Rushville. This plan was originated by the Chicago Tribune several years ago and won such instant success that it has been adopted by scores of other newspapers in many states, including Indiana, instead of a Santa Claus fund, as a means of bringing the spirit of the holidays to the poor little folks whose conditions are such that they would never know any Christmas.

That's about all there is to it. The Good Fellows league can not be compared to any other league in the world. It directs itself in its own sweet way. The duty of the Republican is only to make announcements in its name, then make a bow and retire. The Good Fellows do the rest.

How to join? Simplest thing you ever saw! The league has no grips, signs or pass words. It has no opening or closing odes. Its headquarters are located in this office—not because this office has any particular merit, but because some sort of clearing house is needed, and the Republican happens to be favored with that duty. All you need to do to join is to send in your name, with the number of children you are willing to help, and you are a member. That's all there is to

POLICY HOLDERS HERE INTERESTED

Meeting Held Today to Decide Whether Commercial Life Ins. Co., Should be Reinsured.

RESERVE FUND IS IMPAIRED

Many people in Rushville and Rush county interested in the meeting held in Indianapolis today by the policy holders of the Commercial Life insurance company of Indianapolis for the purpose of deciding whether the company shall be reinsured by the Pension Mutual Life Insurance company of Pittsburgh. A two-thirds vote of the policy holders was necessary to perfect the deal. Many people here have policies as well as stock in the company.

The reinsurance was necessary because the company has gradually impaired its reserve fund in the hands of the state auditor to a point where the state authorities were compelled to step in and demand that the company take immediate means of reimbursing its risks.

The amount of the impairment of the reserve was considerable but the Pension Mutual company, which has assets of more than $600,000, has now agreed to make good the deficit in the impaired reserve and to reinsure all risks of the company. The Pension Mutual is authorized to do business in Indiana.

HIT ON HEAD WITH BOTTLE; NOT HURT

Harry Rainey Not Even Stunned by Blow Landed by Charles Sorrel in Fight Last Night.

PAID FINE BEFORE SQUIRE

Charles Sorrell, better known as "Chuck" paid a fine of one dollar and costs this morning before Squire Kratzer for assault and battery. Sorrell along with his brother, Jesse Sorrell engaged in a fight with Harry Rainey last night in front of the McCormick restaurant in West Second street. According to witnesses Jesse Sorrell started the fight and it was taken up by Charles. Rainey made an effort to get away and avoid trouble but was forced into fighting. He was not arrested. Near the close of the encounter, Charles Sorrell struck Rainey over the head with an empty bottle and luckily Rainey escaped with a slight wound. Police-man Wolter was on the scene but could not stop the battle. Ray Lakin was called upon to help out and with his aid Sorrell was taken to jail. Empty bottles were flying thick and fast for a short time. Jesse Sorrell was not arrested.

What's in a Name?

If it is a name made familiar to the public through persistent and truthful advertising there is frequently a fortune in it.

It improves the old proverb of a good name being better than great riches—by making the good name bring great riches.

Merchandising success is built on service.

Advertising is one of the greatest and most important factors in modern service.

It is the electric railway over which customers come to the store and goods move to the customers.

Newspaper readers are becoming greater advertising readers day by day because they find it pays.

It keeps them in touch with the men who are doing the world's work in a workman-like way.

It tells them what to buy and when to buy at the best advantage and best of all it makes them familiar with the name worthy of their confidence.

SHOPPERS SEE ERRORS OF WAYS

They Are Thoroughly Imbued With the Desire to Buy Their Christmas Gifts Early.

THEY PROFIT BY EXPERIENCE

Shopping Early is Not Only Help to Shopper and Merchant, But Also to the Clerks.

What has become of the wait-until-the-last-minute, desperate shopping fiends, who on Christmas eve, rush at a terrific pace along the counters of the stores almost at a point of grabbing anything that happens to meet his or her glance? The merchants are beginning to say that in a few years they will have no place in shopping circles.

The prevailing sentiment with shoppers and merchants alike and in fact everyone involved is to "shop early." Ten years of agitation of the press, women's clubs and merchants has brought the situation to a close so that in Rushville especially the early shopping rule is well settled.

One of the store owners said that within the last two years the store had solved the problem of early shopping and that all concerned seemed well satisfied.

"One may not expect as good service when there is a killing-pace rush to be waited upon and hundreds of other individuals clamoring to make their purchases and then rush homeward," said the merchant.

"It used to be that on Christmas eve a panic broke hard on the merchant. All the pent up energy of the shopper which had accumulated for at least two months, was showered with no less agitation. Clerks and customers rushed to and fro and all was bustle and confusion. Then there was no time for selection; it was merely get what you can, have it wrapped, and run the chances of a bad selection or a misfit.

"Now the new era has swept over the shopping populace of the city. Afternoons are now devoted to shopping tours. The shop early movement with a two years trial has proved such a signal success that there are few tendencies to drift back to the former status.

"The gradual daily increase in receipts gives the merchant a better chance to adjust the stock and balance of trade which are of special benefit to the customers.

"Then there is the humane side of the question. When the shopper is home fondling some Christmas expression of good cheer, there is some one of those hundreds of clerks still sleeping in order to recuperate for the next day's work after the distressing strain of the pre-Christmas rush. To keep her rushing around at breakneck speed, which is the usual experience, only adds hours to her holiday's sleep which she could utilize keeping the Christmas day to her own pleasure."

Dealers in jewelry, dry goods, notions, clothing, and scores of other varieties are eagerly waiting to accommodate the thousands of Rushville shoppers and are in a position to do so with some degree of satisfaction if the shopper is a member of the "shop early" crusade.

There remains just nineteen more shopping days before the curtain drops on the Yuletide shopping season, December 24th, and to you, Mr. and Mrs. Customer, lies the joy of real pleasurable shopping tours or a bustling, rushing grand finale that leaves one entirely out of breath.

CASE MOVES SLOWLY.

The case of Maggie Workman, et al., against Charles H. Foust et al., asking partition and that a deed be set aside, progressed slowly in the circuit court today and from present indications the case will not be finished before Thursday. The jury is hearing the case on the first and fourth paragraphs of the complaint. Court was delayed in starting this morning due to the failure of Special Judge Fred Gause to arrive on time from Newcastle.

DEFENSE SHOWS ITS HAND TODAY

Attorney For Dr. W. B. Craig, Accused of Murder of Dr. Helene Knabe, Displays Letter.

IN THE OPENING STATEMENT

Alleged That Detective Offered Medium $300 to Assist Capturing Guilty Person.

Shelbyville, Ind., December 2.—The defense today showed its hand in the trial of Dr. William B. Craig, charged in an indictment with the murder of Dr. Helene Knabe, of Indianapolis. Henry N. Spaan gave to the jury the side of the defense, to counteract the arraignment of Dr. Craig by Eph Inman, in his opening statement for the prosecution.

The defense will, to a great extent, depend on an alibi for Dr. Craig. The defense by its witnesses, will show that on the night of the death of Dr. Knabe, Dr. Craig spent considerable time at the veterinary college, where he was seen and talked to by students and officers of the institution; that after leaving the college Dr. Craig walked to his home with a friend and was at his home until after midnight, the contention of the defense being that it was physically impossible for Dr. Craig to have caused the death of Dr. Knabe.

During the examination of the talesmen, Mr. Spaan asked them if they would place any credence on testimony that came from Spiritualistic sources. Today Mr. Spaan made public the hidden meaning of these questions. The defense has a photographic copy of an agreement between Harry C. Webster, the detective, who gathered the evidence on which Dr. Craig was indicted, and Mrs. Rose Cooper, medium, of Indianapolis. This agreement that the defense will endeavor to get before the jury called for payment of $300 to the medium if she assisted in the capture of the murderer.

The weather does not affect the size of the crowd that is attending the trial. Yesterday the sky was overcast and the air cheerless, but the courtroom was full. Today is genial, the sun shining brightly and the air balmy as a day in June. Before 7:30 o'clock there was a stream of people on the way to the court house and by the time the janitors had their work done there was hardly standing space in the court room, and as on yesterday, the majority of the audience was made up of women.

The jury was completed and sworn in just before noon yesterday, and at 1:30 Ephraim Inman, representing the prosecution, began his opening statement for the state. The jury is farmers except Walter V. Wright, who is employed by the Big Four railroad.

Napoleon's Masterful Mother.

The relationship between Napoleon Bonaparte and his mother, the Mme. Mere of imperial times, was peculiar. Mme. Letizia, who was thirty-four when her famous son was born, had always been complete mistress of her household. Even when her son was emperor and his word was law, willing as she might have been in public to do him honor, in private she insisted on the privileges of her motherhood.

Baron Larrey, in his historical essay, writes: "One day there was a family meeting, and Napoleon gave his mother his hand to kiss, but Mme. Mere moved aside the proffered hand.

Napoleon then took his mother's hand and kissed it, and she said to him, 'Sire, you know quite well that in public I must treat you with due respect, because I am your subject, but in private I am your mother.'

Safe Either Way.

A farmer in a cyclone district was building a superb stone wall. He was building the wall stanch and solid, five feet across the base and four feet high. A stranger stopped his horse and said to the farmer:

"You're taking a lot of trouble with that wall."

"You bet," the farmer answered. "I'm putting her here to stay."

"What's the good of that?" sneered the stranger. "A cyclone'll come along and she'll blow over just the same."

"Well, let her," said the farmer.

"She'll be a foot higher if she does."

Tuberculosis Day.

Tuberculosis day is to be observed again this year December 7th, and a general notice of it is asked. While fine work is being done to stamp out this needless disease, its ravages do not attract the attention they should, because they occur separately and individually. A Titanic disaster gets the big headlines, while the efforts to stop an infinitely more destructive disease attract comparatively little notice.

When will some people learn the menace to health caused by the habit of spitting on sidewalks and other public places? Ten years ago it is recalled that in one of the most intelligent cities of the country, an anti-spitting ordinance was hooted out of the city council, as an infringement on every day privileges. There has been a gain since then, but the habit continues. A man may have no communicable disease himself, but every time he expectorates on the walk, he encourages some victim of tuberculosis to do his deadly work. It is in this way that the majority of cases are distributed.

It is claimed that the value of the presents given at the White House wedding has been greatly exaggerated, but the offerings will be all right provided the givers all were careful to rub out price marks.

The White House bridegroom evidently did not lack real friends, as a barrel of apples and one of potatoes were included in the gifts.

Many Washington people were bitterly disappointed in not getting invitations to the Wilson wedding. If the President is not more careful next time, they won't speak to him on the street.

There seems to be some feeling that President Huerta's opinions would undergo a change if the city of Mexico would vote prohibition and enforce it.

The newspaper correspondents should not assume that the President is sending an ultimatum to Huerta every time he goes out to post a letter in the mail box.

Although modern children are very precocious, careful parents do not send their boys out hunting with a long range rifle until they are at least seven years old.

Under the present circumstances, it would seem good judgment for Mr. Huerta of Mexico to look out carefully that the back door is kept open.

NIGHT SESSIONS FOR THE SENATE

Leaders Want Currency Bill Disposed Of.

PRESIDENT READS MESSAGE

In the Presence of Both Branches of Congress Assembled in House, Galleries Being Packed for the Occasion, Mr. Wilson Made His Annual Recommendations Relating to the State of the Government.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The complete domination of his party by Mr. Wilson was strikingly demonstrated in the unwillingness of leaders in congress to discuss the work of the new session that was called to order yesterday, until the president had had his say on the subject in his annual message, which was read by himself in joint session of both houses this afternoon.

In a general way it was known, of course, that congress would be asked to pass supplemental anti-trust legislation and other measures of great importance to the country as a whole. There also was good reason to believe that President Wilson would urge extreme conservatism in the matter of anti-trust and other legislation. Hope was expressed by leaders, however, that corporation legislation would be held in abeyance until the senate had passed the banking bill.

The senate was in session for an hour and thirty minutes last night, considering the currency bill. An agreement was reached by which the senate met at 11 o'clock today, and before the close of the day it is thought an agreement will be entered into fixing the daily hour of meeting and to provide for night sessions. It is the intention of the Democratic leaders in the senate to keep the currency bill before the senate whenever that body is not engaged in the consideration of the Hatch Hatch reservoir site bill, which has the right of way.

There was a flurry in the senate over the Democratic proposal to hold day and night sessions and to meet at 10 o'clock daily. Senator Kern, leader of the majority, submitted a resolution providing for 10 o'clock as the daily hour of meeting. Senator Gal- linger objected, and it went over. The assembling of the Sixty-third congress yesterday was a tame affair. The formal "opening" really did not take place until 1 o'clock this afternoon, when President Wilson, for the third time, delivered an address to congress. The novelty of the president appearing before congress in joint session has not yet worn off, and the galleries were packed. The special session of congress was merged with the regular session with an absence of formality. All the form and ceremony was reserved for today, when the president read his message from the speaker's rostrum in the house in the presence of members of both branches.

THE FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Has Returned More Indictments in Dynamite Cases.

Indianapolis, Dec. 2.—The federal grand jury, which has been investigating dynamiting outrages and before whom George E. Davis, alias McDon- ald, was the principal witness, has returned true bills in fifty-five cases, forty-five of which are said to be against the perpetrators of dynamite outrages. Davis and Harry Jones, the present secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, both of whom are under arrest, are known to be indicted, but none of the other names were given out except those of the men who were tried here and are now either in prison or out on bond, pending the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals.

The district attorney refused to give out any information respecting the action of the grand jury or the testimony adduced, but said that the list of indicted men included all tried and sentenced a year ago, and Jones and Davis.

Davis's evidence is important against the men tried and convicted, if they are granted a new trial, but otherwise it will affect only those just now indicted.

Navy Football Player Disregarded Cruel Bogus Message.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 2.—Naval academy authorities are trying to find the authorship of a telegram which was delivered to Quarterback Nicholls of the navy team just before the game Saturday and which stated that his father was seriously ill and that he better return to his home at once. It is thought by some that a person who had bet on the army team may have been guilty of the heartless device to unnerve Nicholls and so affect his playing and also his manner of running the team.

Nicholls did not believe that the telegram was valid. He entered the game and his playing was not affected.

USE CANNED GOODS IN WINTER

This Would Balance the Diet Better
the United States Food Experts Declare.

SAVING IN EXPENSE POSSIBLE

Fruit and Vegetables Will Help to Eliminate the Patent Medicine Bills, Too.

The balanced rations of many Americans today, according to experts of the department of agriculture, is made up about as follows: Bread, butter, eggs, meat, fish, potatoes and patent medicines.

Many Americans customarily suffer from either stomach and intestinal maladies or rheumatism, they say. A simple change of the daily menu more in keeping with nature's plan might go a long way to remedy these ailments, specialists of the bureau of plant industry in charge of canning club work, contend. These specialists recommend a change in a manner in keeping with nature's plan about as follows: Bread, butter, fruit, vegetables, greens, meat, fish and eggs.

They recommended that every family in Indiana and elsewhere provide a diet of fruit and vegetables for every day in the year. This would, they say, do much to eliminate the need of patent medicines that figure so prominently in many bills of fare. "If every home kept on hand enough canned products so that there might be a can of fruits, a can of greens and a can of vegetables for every day during the winter, there would be little need for the medicines now so regularly purchased from the drug stores," said an official of the department of agriculture today. "There would also be great economy in the substitution of an inexpensive food for more expensive ones."

"More home canning, done at the proper season, would enable the average family always to have the proper quantity of canned products, and would save an astonishing amount of food that goes to waste every year. It is estimated that over 50 per cent. of all vegetables, greens, fruit and berries that grow in this country go to waste and are actually lost to those who need them. This is simply because housewives have not learned to care for these surplus products efficiently and to make them available for the winter months by canning."

"That home canning may reduce the cost of living is not generally appreciated. Even those who are accustomed to use a supply of canned goods in the winter do not realize that they sometimes pay transportation rates on goods from distant parts of the country, when there is a surplus of the same product in their own vicinity during the summer months, that might have been saved by home canning."

"For example, a can of tomatoes is bought during the winter in certain districts of Colorado for 15 cents. Tomatoes are taken as an example, as this is one of the canned products that appears most frequently on the shelves of groceries throughout Colorado. This can was put up in Maryland. The people of the section where it was purchased live in an irrigated district where there is always a surplus of tomatoes in summer, yet they pay transportation charges of vegetables from Maryland while they might have put up a similar can during the season in their own district that would have cost about 5 cents."

"When one regards the number of cans used throughout the country, that have been shipped great distances, a person may realize the enormous saving a little intelligent home canning might bring about. Home canning, however, should not seriously affect the business of commercial canning factories. There will always be plenty of people that have neither the time nor inclination to can their own products. More home canning, on the contrary, will accustom people more and more to using canned products in general."

Some practical experiments have been made in the laboratory of the bureau of plant industry's office of farm management here, from which every home in Indiana where canning is practicable, may profit. This laboratory is not what is known as a "modern, well equipped laboratory." In fact, it does not look like a laboratory at all. It contains simply what every average home in Indiana may have, and is nothing more or less than an average kitchen. Those in charge of it are anxious to give any housewife the receipt for canning fruit and vegetables if they care to have them.

FARMERS HAVE NO RIGHT TO KICK

Although Weather is Unseasonable, They are Blessed With a Long, Late Fall.

THE CORN CROP NOT ALL IN

Although the rains and warm moist, foggy weather are rather unseasonable for the latter part of November and are causing considerable complaint among people, in general the farmers are not kicking to any great extent, except those who have not yet gathered the corn. Farmers state that while the weather is unseasonable now they are blessed with a long late fall and consequently have no right to complain. The greater per cent of the corn crop in Rush county has been gathered, and corn is coming in to the elevators every day. The quality of the corn is generally good, and the ears matured nicely, in spite of much unseasonable weather early in the year.

Farmers state that the present brand of weather is not damaging the young wheat crop any and is growing nicely. There is more wheat than usual in this county this winter, and if the first cold snap brings a little snow along with it, the wheat will have a good start for next season.

MEETINGS CLOSE.

Omer Hufford and E. A. Addison of Knightstown have closed an eleven days' revival at the Little Sugar Creek church, north of the city. The meeting was quite successful there being nine additions to the church, eight of which were baptized Sunday.

An oyster and ice cream social will be given at New Salem by the M. E. church ladies aid society Saturday evening.

AWARDS WILL BE MADE TOMORROW

Corn Contests Given by Rushville

National Bank and Ben Norris Will Come to Close.

ENTRIES ARE NOW ON DISPLAY

Competent Judge Will Award Prizes

Amounting to $150—Norris Will Banquet Contestants.

There is on display four hundred and twenty ears of corn grown in Rush county at the Rushville National bank, which is said to be the best corn ever made in Rush county. Many people called to see the exhibit today.

The corn is displayed there for the purpose of making awards in the bank corn contest, as well as in a contest arranged by Ben Norris of Carthage. Each contestant has entered ten ears of corn which is in accordance with the rules of the contest.

There are in all forty-two contestants, twenty-one entered in each contest. If the same grower wins first prize in both events, the total of his winnings would amount to fifty dollars as the first in each event is twenty-five dollars. The second prize in each event is fifteen dollars and the third is ten dollars.

There were few restrictions about the bank contest. There was just one provision, that is that the corn should be grown in Rush county. More restrictions were thrown about the Norris corn contest. In addition to being grown in Rush county, the fertilizer which Mr. Norris sells had to be used in the field where the corn was grown.

The prizes will be awarded tomorrow by a thoroughly competent judge. The name of the judge was not disclosed and nothing is known of him except that he is from Franklin, Indiana and that he was recommended by Prof. Christie of the Purdue agricultural extension department.

Mr. Norris will give a banquet for all of the entrants in his contest at the Seanlan house tomorrow at noon. Will M. Sparks will speak and the corn show judge will score an ear of corn thereby giving the contestants instructions that would be of interest to every corn grower in the county.

Bazaar and Supper.

The Pastors Aid Society of the Main Street Christian church will hold a Bazaar, in the basement of the church Friday afternoon, December 5th, caps, aprons, dolls, fancy work, candy, etc. Supper will be served from five to seven o'clock, 35 cents.

PRICE IS THIRTY PER CENT OFF

Fur dealers in this city state that the present warm weather is very favorable to the catch of fur bearing animals and the number of pelts now coming into this city is very large. However, the prices of the pelts is said to be off about 30 per cent. in comparison with this date last year. In overstock of furs on the eastern markets is said to be the cause.

O'Neal Brothers are the largest buyers of furs in this section of Indiana. They have agents in many parts of the state, who ship to them here and the local firm makes big shipments to eastern markets.

The pelts which are being received are mostly coon, possum, skunk and muskrat. The scarcity of the mink pelts is specially noticeable among the hunters and the buyers.

DATE FOR COUNTY MEETING IS SET

Sunday School Convention Will be Held at the Court House Assembly Room, Saturday, Dec. 13.

POSTPONED ONCE THIS YEAR

A. T. Albertson of Indianapolis Will be the Principal Speaker at the Annual Event.

The annual convention of the Rush County Sunday school association will be held a week from next Saturday in this city and the following announcement concerning the meeting is made by officials of the association:

The Rush County Sunday school convention which was postponed a short time ago, has been set for Saturday, Dec. 13. The meeting will be held in the court house assembly room, and A. T. Albertson will be the main speaker.

All Sunday schools of the county are urged to send representatives and bring in their reports.

"Sunday School Standards" will be discussed. Is your school an Organized, a Banner, or a Front Line School?

AN ORGANIZED SCHOOL.

1. Have a Cradle Roll.
2. Have a Home Department.
3. Use International Graded Lessons or International Uniform Lessons with Supplemental Lessons.
4. Definite decision for Christ urged.
5. An annual report and offering for county, state, and international work.
6. A representative at annual convention of township, county, or state.

A BANNER SCHOOL.

1. Be an organized school.
2. Hold a Sunday school business council at least monthly.
3. Be graded.
4. Provide adequate missionary instruction and an offering for your church boards.
5. Have one or more studying a teacher training text book.
6. Keep record of temperance pledges signed.
7. Have one or more chartered adult classes.
8. Meet requirements of your denominational standard.

A FRONT LINE SCHOOL.

1. Be a banner school.
2. Have one or more chartered secondary division classes.
3. Keep accurate and complete school records.
4. Make annual report to the county complete in every question.
5. Make your annual offering for county, state and international work equal to 3c. per enrolled member not including Cradle Roll and Home Department.
6. Have a serviceable blackboard at least 3x4 feet, a wall map of Palestine, and suitable chairs or seats.

Let every school in the county strive to reach as high a standard as possible.

The Golden Jubilee State convention will be held at Indianapolis June, 16, 17, and 18, 1914. The state officers have set some goals to reach by that time. Let there be an effort to put Rush county in its proper place by that time.

Reports should be sent to Mrs. E. E. Hungerford, sec-treas., Rushville, Indiana.

DRAWS 25 DAYS.

Sam Webb was elected to spend twenty-five days in jail this morning when he pleaded guilty to the charge of public intoxication before Mayor Black. Webb was fined five dollars and costs and sentenced to serve ten days in jail. Webb was unable to pay and will lay out the fine for a total of twenty-five days.

Burr Oak Camp No. 3548, Modern Woodmen of America, will elect camp officers, for the ensuing year, next Thursday night.

PRESIDENT WILSON

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS ::

Chief Executive Discusses the Mexican Crisis, the Currency Bill, the Sherman Law, Nomination of President by Direct Vote at Primaries and Other Matters of Importance.

Washington, D. C.—In his message, delivered at a joint session of the houses of congress at the beginning of the second session of the Sixty-third congress, President Wilson urged immediate currency legislation, devoted considerable space to the needs of the farmers and referred to the Mexican crisis. The Sherman anti-trust law, he said, should be changed so that its exact meaning would be clearer. The president also urged the choice of presidential nominees by the direct differences of interest or of policy arise which cannot be resolved by the ordinary processes of diplomacy they shall be publicly analyzed, discussed and reported upon by a tribunal chosen by the parties before either nation determines its course of action.

There is only one possible standard by which to determine controversies between the United States and other nations, and that is compounded of these two elements—our own honor and our obligations to the peace of the world. A test so compounded ought easily to be made to govern both the establishment of new treaty obligations and the interpretation of those already assumed.

HUERTA MUST GO.

Predicts Downfall of "Usurper" Who "Cast Aside Even Pretense of Legal Right and Declared Himself Dictator."

There is but one cloud upon our horizon. That has shown itself to the south of us and hangs over Mexico. There can be no certain prospect of peace in America until General Huerta has surrendered his usurped authority in Mexico. Until it is understood on all hands, indeed, such pretended governments will not be countenanced or dealt with by the government of the United States. We are the friends of constitutional government in America. We are more than its friends; we are its champions, because in no other way can our neighbors to whom we would wish in every way to make proof of our friendship work out their own development in peace and liberty.

Mexico has no government. The attempt to maintain one at the City of Mexico has broken down, and a mere military despotism has been set up which has hardly more than the semblance of national authority. It originated in the usurpation of Victoriano Huerta, who, after a brief attempt to play the part of constitutional president, has at last cast aside even the pretense of legal right and declared himself dictator. As a consequence a condition of affairs now exists in Mexico which has made it doubtful whether even the most elementary and fundamental rights either of her own people or of the citizens of other countries resident within her territory can long be successfully safeguarded and which threatens if long continued to imperil the interests of peace, order and tolerable life in the lands immediately to the south of us.

Even if the usurper had succeeded in his purposes, in despite of the constitution of the republic and the rights of its people, he would have set up nothing but a precarious and hateful power which could have lasted but a little while and whose eventual downfall would have left the country in a more deplorable condition than ever. But he has not succeeded. He has forfeited the respect and the moral support even of those who were at one time willing to see him succeed. Little by little he has been completely isolated. By little every day his power and prestige are crumbling, and the collapse is not far away. We shall not, I believe, be obliged to alter our policy of watchful waiting. And then, when the end comes, we shall hope to see constitutional order restored in distressed Mexico by the concert and energy of such of her leaders as prefer the liberty of their people to their own ambitions.

WANTS TREATIES RATIFIED.

Asserts That United States Leads In Peace Negotiations.

The country, I am thankful to say, is at peace with all the world, and many happy manifestations multiply about us of a growing cordiality and sense of community of interest among the nations, foreshadowing an age of settled peace and good will. More and more readily each decade do the nations manifest their willingness to bind themselves by solemn treaty to the processes of peace, the processes of frankness and fair concession. So far the United States has stood at the front of such negotiations. She will, I earnestly hope and confidently believe, give fresh proof of her sincere adherence to the cause of international friendship by ratifying the several treaties of arbitration awaiting renewal by the senate.

In addition to these it has been the privilege of the department of state to gain the assent, in principle, of no less than thirty-one nations, representing four-fifths of the population of the world, to the negotiation of treaties by which it shall be agreed that whenever members of that great house need no urging in this service to the country.

I present to you in addition the urgent necessity that special provision be made also for facilitating the credits needed by the farmers of the country. The pending currency bill does the farmers a great service. It puts them upon an equal footing with other business men and masters of enterprise, as should, and upon its passage they will find themselves quit of many of the difficulties which now hamper them in the field of credit. The farmers of course ask and should be given no special privilege, such as extending to them the credit of the government itself. What they need and should obtain is legislation which will make their own abundant and substantial credit resources available as a foundation for joint, concerted, local action in their own behalf in getting the capital they must use. It is to this we should now address ourselves.

It has, singularly enough, come to pass that we have allowed the industry of our farms to lag behind the other activities of the country in its development. I need not stop to tell you how fundamental to the life of the nation is the production of its food. Our thoughts may ordinarily be concentrated upon the cities and the bives of industry, upon the cries of the crowded market place and the clangor of the factory, but it is from the quiet interspaces of the open valleys and the free hillsides that we draw the sources of life and of prosperity, from the farm and the ranch, from the forest and the mine. Without these every street would be silent, every office deserted, every factory fallen into disrepair.

And yet the farmer does not stand upon the same footing with the forester and the miner in the market of credit. He is the servant of the seasons. Nature determines how long he must wait for his crops and will not be hurried in her processes. He may give his note, but the season of its maturity depends upon the season when his crop matures and lies at the gates of the market where his products are sold. And the security he gives is of a character not known in the broker's office or as familiarly as it might be on the counter of the banker.

The agricultural department of the government is seeking to assist as never before to make farming an efficient business, of wide co-operative effort, in quick touch with the markets for foodstuffs. The farmers and the government will henceforth work together as real partners in this field, where we now begin to see our way very clearly and where many intelligent plans are already being put into execution.

The treasury of the United States has by a timely and well considered distribution of its deposits facilitated the moving of the crops in the present season and prevented the scarcity of available funds too often experienced at such times. But we must not allow ourselves to depend upon extraordinary expedients. We must add the means by which the farmer may make his credit constantly and easily available and command when he will the capital by which to support and expand his business. We lag behind many other great countries of the modern world in attempting to do this. Systems of rural credit have been studied and developed on the other side of the water while we left our farmers to shift for themselves in the ordinary money market. You have but to look about you in any rural district to see the result, the handicap and embarrassment which have been put upon those who produce our food.

Conscious of this backwardness and neglect on our part, the congress recently authorized the creation of a special commission to study the various systems of rural credit which have been put into operation in Europe, and this commission is already prepared to report. Its report ought to make it easier for us to determine what methods will be best suited to our own farmers. I hope and believe that the committees of the senate and house will address themselves to this matter with the most fruitful results, and I believe that the studies and recently formed plans of the department of ag-

URGES CURRENCY REFORM TO BENEFIT THE FARMER.

Urges Measure That Will Prove Benefit to Farmers—Hopes For Quick Action.

I turn to matters of domestic concern. You already have under consideration a bill for the reform of our system of banking and currency, for which the country waits with impatience, as for something fundamental to its whole business life and necessary to set credit free from arbitrary and artificial restraints. I need not say how earnestly I hope for its early enactment into law. I take leave to beg that the whole energy and attention of the senate be concentrated upon it till the matter is successfully disposed of. And yet I feel that the request is not needed—that the members of that great house need no urging in this service to the country.

It would be indiscreet and presumptuous in any one to dogmatize upon so great and many sided a question, but I feel confident that common counsel will produce the results we must all desire.

UPHOLDS ANTI-TRUST LAW.

Recommends That It Be Supplemented With More Explicit Legislation to Facilitate Its Administration.

Turn from the farm to the world of business which centers in the city and in the factory, and I think that all thoughtful observers will agree that the immediate service we owe the business communities of the country is to prevent private monopoly more effectively than it has yet been prevented. I think it will be easily agreed that we should let the Sherman anti-trust law stand, unaltered, as it is, with its debatable ground about it, but that we should as much as possible reduce the area of that debatable ground by further and more explicit legislation, and should also supplement that great act by legislation which will not only clarify it but also facilitate its administration and make it fairer to all concerned.

No doubt we shall all wish, and the country will expect, this to be the central subject of our deliberations during the present session, but it is a subject so many sided and so deserving of careful and discriminating discussion that I shall take the liberty of addressing you upon it in a special message at a later date than this. It is of capital importance that the business men of this country should be relieved of all uncertainties of law with regard to their enterprises and investments and a clear path indicated which they can travel without anxiety. It is as important that they should be relieved of embarrassment and set free to prosper as that private monopoly should be destroyed. The ways of action should be thrown wide open.

FAVORS DIRECT ELECTIONS.

Would Retain Conventions, Delegates to Be Nominees For Office, Whose Duty It Would Be to Frame Platforms.

I turn to a subject which I hope can be handled promptly and without serious controversy of any kind. I mean the method of selecting nominees for the presidency of the United States. I feel confident that I do not misinterpret the wishes or the expectations of the country when I urge the prompt enactment of legislation which will provide for primary elections throughout the country at which the voters of the several parties may choose their nominees for the presidency without the intervention of nominating conventions. I venture the suggestion that this legislation should provide for the retention of party conventions, but only for the purpose of declaring and accepting the verdict of the primaries and formulating the platforms of the parties, and I suggest that these conventions should consist not of delegates chosen for this single purpose, but of the nominees for congress, the nominees for vacant seats in the senate of the United States, the senators whose terms have not yet closed, the national committees and the candidates for the presidency themselves, in order that platforms may be framed by those responsible to the people for carrying them into effect.

PHILIPPINE CONTROL.

Must Hold Ultimate Independence In View and Strive to Fit Filipinos For Self Government at Future Date.

These are all matters of vital domestic concern, and besides them, outside the charmed circle of our own national life in which our affections command us, as well as our consciences, there stand out our obligations toward our territories over sea. Here we are trustees. Porto Rico, Hawaii, the Philippines, are ours, indeed, but not ours to do what we please with. Such territories, once regarded as mere possessions, are no longer to be selfishly exploited; they are part of the domain of public conscience and of serviceable and enlightened statesmanship.

We must administer them for the people who live in them and with the same sense of responsibility to them as toward our own people in our domestic affairs. No doubt we shall successfully bind Porto Rico and the Hawaiian Islands to ourselves by ties of justice and interest and affection, but the performance of our duty toward the Philippines is a more difficult and debatable matter. We can satisfy the obligations of generous usages.

Rheumatism and its Cause

Uric acid in the blood is the cause of this disease.

These small crystals deposit in the blood vessels and retard the circulation and cause irritation and acute pain.

The only sane remedy for this trouble is a uric acid solvent. Limmers and counter irritants are but temporary, if any, relief. This trouble can only be reached successfully by internal remedies.

An old English physician, Dr. John Hyde, discovered a remedy while in general practice of medicine that he used with phenomenal success for many years for Rheumatism and Kidney trouble.

He gave the prescription to F. E. Wolcott, the druggist, and he has sold hundreds of bottles of it, always on a guarantee, and but a very few ever were returned.

In the past 6 years he has cured a number of cases who were on crutches and had Lumbo until confined to the house.

It sells on a positive guarantee and pint bottles are only 75¢.

"Now, see, Mr. North," resumed Betsy-Barbara, "I've diagnosed your case. The trouble with you is that you've drifted. You need responsibility. When you're boss, you won't be loafing on the job. You'd discharge an employee who did that—and you can't discharge yourself. Some day you'll wish you had a business of your own. Then you'll look back and be sorry you didn't start it when you were young. You can get business, can't you?"

"I ought to," said Tommy.

"And you can—fix up—the business when you get it?"

"I suppose I can. I never lost a place for incompetence."

"Then there's really nothing more to be said," responded Betsy-Barbara. "Just get an office, and hang out your shingle, and go to work. You may fail, of course. But you'll be doing it for yourself, and that, Thomas W. North, is what you need."

Tommy North had been looking at her as one who sees visions and hears voices. "Why, that's the way I used to think. That's the way I used to talk," he said. "I didn't realize until I heard it from you, how I'd got over it."

"The first thing to do when you're starting in business is to find an office," said Betsy-Barbara practically.

"There are lots of good cheap little places in lower Fifth avenue," said Tommy North.

"Let's look at them right now!" exclaimed Betsy-Barbara. And the newly-formed Thomas W. North Advertising agency wheeled and started southward.

That afternoon, Betsy-Barbara and Rosalie Le Grange were sewing together in the sun parlor. As they pulled basting, Betsy-Barbara slipped in a remark which she tried artfully to conceal in general chatter.

"Mr. North tells me," said Betsy-Barbara, "that he is going to start in business for himself."

"That so?" exclaimed Rosalie; "well he's a nice, smart young man an' it will be the very best thing for him." She pulled basting for ten seconds before she resumed:

"It will keep him straight. He won't have to be helped up to his room for some time, I hope."

Betsy-Barbara stared and flushed. "Oh! Did you see it?"

"Now, my dear, I think it was brave an' nice of you. It's what any girl should have done, an' it's what most good girls wouldn't have the decency to do. No woman's a real lady when she's too much of a lady. Yes—I heard him stumble, an' I come out an' looked."

"I—I just opened his door and pushed him in," said Betsy-Barbara, blushing furiously.

"An' quite enough—I saw that, too." Rosalie pulled basting for a quarter of a minute more. Then she added, "I suppose you called him down all he needed when you took that walk this morning."

"Oh, that wasn't the reason!" cried Betsy-Barbara, driven back on her maiden defenses. "It wasn't that. I really didn't want to see him. But he had something new to tell me about—the case—or thought he had. Something he'd forgotten—something which came back to him last night when he was—well, you saw." And detail by detail she repeated Tommy North's story about the diamond cluster. Rosalie

Bald At 35

Cleanse the Scalp; Nourish the Hair and Never Grow Bald. Use Parisian Sage.

Don't grow bald at 35 as thousands of men do—yes! and women also. Failure to keep the hair properly nourished and the scalp free from dandruff is one of the main causes of baldness.

If your hair is thinning out immediate action is necessary. Parisian Sage is just what you need to remove dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp and make the hair strong, beautiful and vigorous.

This delightful and refreshing hair tonic, which is now sold at druggists and toilet counters in 50 cent bottles, is rigidly guaranteed. If Parisian Sage does not give complete satisfaction F. B. Johnson & Co. will refund your money.

Parisian Sage surely supplies hair needs. The first application removes dandruff, invigorates the scalp and puts life and beauty into thin, dull and faded hair.

Rheumatism and Bright's Disease

Prof. Budlong Was Quickly Relieved of Both Afflictions by Using Rheuma.

If you suffer from any form of Rheumatism, remember that RHEUMA goes to work quickly to remove the cause, not simply to relieve the distress. Many years' use has demonstrated that it goes to the seat of the disease and expels the poisonous matter through the natural channels—the kidneys, bowels, liver and skin.

"For many years I was troubled with Rheumatism, also with Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I suffered awfully. Tried many advertised remedies. After using your truly remarkable preparation, RHEUMA, I was fully cured."—Prof. C. J. Budlong, Sound View, Conn.

RHEUMA is guaranteed by F. B. Johnson & Co., druggists, Rushville, who sells it for 50¢ a bottle.

As they came to Captain Hanska's room, Inspector McGee stopped and made oration.

"You can see," he said, "that it was an inside job. Beginning on the roof, there's no way to enter except by the hatch which goes down into the lumber room. On account of the fire regulations, the hatch couldn't be locked, but it was closed inside by a bolt. That hadn't been monkeyed with. In fact, the dirt around the edges showed that the hatch hadn't been opened for a long time."

"And the fire escape?" asked Rosalie, pursing her brows with concentration.

"Runs from the lumber room straight down." Passed at the third floor the windows of Captain Hanska's room. The corresponding room on the second floor is vacant. No one entered from the basement, either. Windows and doors all bolted inside and showed no signs of being tampered with. You see, it was this Wade fellow, or an inside job. And while we're talking about locks"—here Martin McGee opened Captain Hanska's door and stood with a foot on either side of the threshold—"this is a little piece of evidence I've figured out myself. Notice, he had a spring lock. Mrs. Moore says he put it on himself. That indicates he was afraid of somebody—Wade, probably. Him being so particular on that point, it was only natural he should keep it locked when he was asleep. Now, look here."

This was an "insides" spring lock of the ordinary pattern. It could be controlled from without only by the key. Within, however, was a knob and a button by which one could turn back the catch and render it temporarily useless as a lock.

"Well, now," said McGee, "the catch was back when they found the body, and the door wasn't locked at all. If he'd been alive after Wade left him, he wouldn't have gone to sleep without seeing that his door was locked. My idea is, he turned the knob and shut the catch back when he let Wade in—the way a person does with a spring lock. Anyhow," concluded McGee, "it's a suspicious fact."

"Very," said Rosalie; and McGee did not catch the flatness in her tone. "But anyone who got on to that fire escape, one way or another, could have entered Hanska's room by the window, couldn't he?"

"Yes," said Inspector McGee, "if Hanska's window was open. But the windows were closed when they found

Mr. North in that position, again."

"Can't see where it's the least bit of use, an' 'twould only do Mr. North harm," replied Rosalie. "If you was me, would you french this seam? Yes, I guess it looks more tasty that way."

Rosalie turned the conversation to a discussion of autumn fashions. She seemed and chatted for ten minutes. Then she looked ostentatiously at the clock.

"Gracious! A quarter to four an' I must be down-town quarrelin' with that laundry at a quarter past!"

She rose, gathered coat, hat and gloves, and hurried to the corner drug store, from which she made by telephone an immediate appointment with Inspector McGee. They met in Abingdon square, a rendezvous half-way between her house and headquarters. She proceeded to business at once.

"I've been jest settin' on this Hanska case, inspector," she said. "Knew it waited long enough, somethin' would hatch. It has, but I can't say yet whether it's a rooster or a duck. In the first place, when's the grand jury goin' to get to the Wade indictment?"

"Oh, I hope you think it isn't," said Betsy-Barbara. "I don't want to put Mr. North in that position, again."

"Can't see where it's the least bit of use, an' 'twould only do Mr. North harm," replied Rosalie. "If you was me, would you french this seam? Yes, I guess it looks more tasty that way."

Rosalie broke out all her dimples, so that Inspector McGee smiled on her.

"Call it a hunch from the spirits."

"You can't come that on me," said the inspector, half playfully. "I know your kind of spirits."

"Well, call it a woman's notion then, if you like that any better. The grand jury's the first thing. Next, that old house of Mrs. Moore's is still vacant, isn't it? I want to go through it with you from top to bottom—an' I've got to do it so I won't be seen."

"That's easy. We can enter the block from the other side and go in by the back door."

"All right. How's two o'clock tomorrow?"

"Fine."

"Now I'd better run along. I don't want to take any chances of being seen with you."

"Honest, what have you found?"

"Honest, I don't know myself!" said Rosalie Le Grange, dimpling over her shoulder as she walked away. McGee stood following her with his eyes.

CHAPTER VIII.

Coquettish McGee.

The Moore boarding house, scene of the Hanska murder, remained closed, a plain-clothes man from the precinct detective force keeping it under watch and ward.

To this house came Captain McGee and Rosalie Le Grange. They approached with all the caution of forethought, entering the block through an office building on the next street, opening the area door with pass-key, going into the house by the basement door at the rear.

"Ugh! I hate to touch it," said Rosalie, drawing her skirts away from the wreckage of the cellar. "I'm glad I wore my old clothes. Guess Mrs. Moore never kept this place any too well—an' with this dust an' your untidy cops, Martin McGee, it's just scandalous now. Well, come on!" And so she dragged her police escort through floor after floor, room after room—at first a superficial survey and then a

STORAGE EGGS NOT POPULAR

Fresh Eggs Sell for Forty Cents a Dozen, But the Other Kind Are Only Thirty.

GROCERY BUSINESS IS DULL

People Seem to Be Living Off What They Had Left from Thanksgiving Feast.

Storage eggs enjoy very little popularity in Rushville. This is proved by the price they must be placed to sell.

At present the fresh product is retailing at 40 cents a dozen, while the storage goods are on the market at 30 cents, with very few purchasers.

"The people are becoming too exacting," said a local grocer. "There is not a difference of 10 cents a dozen in the worth and palatability of fresh and storage eggs. If one egg is worth 10 cents more than another, the cheaper egg has no business in a respectable place of business. The storage egg is all right and should bring near the price of the fresh article."

Now that Thanksgiving is over, most of the people seem to be living on the remnants of the dinner of that day, as grocers nowadays are the most unsought for business men in the city. Trade is dull, and gives no promise of awakening again until the approach of the holidays.

The one thing that causes sorrow on the part of the grocers these days is the fact that seeded raisins in boxes are not producing the profit they formerly did. The growers in California have formed a co-operative selling company and have raised the price of raisins, cutting off 2 cents from the grocers' profit. As the people are accustomed to buying them for 15 cents a box, the grocers are afraid to raise the price, yet at the same time, there is very little money to be made in handling them.

DAMAGE SUIT SENT HERE

Case From Fayette County For $5,000 Received.

The damage suit of Charles H. Widman against the C. C. C. & St. L. railway and the Lake Erie and Western railway has been sent to this court on a change of venue from Fayette county. Mr. Widman demands $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been received in a grade crossing accident in the city of Connersville. Mr. Widman states in the complaint that the automobile in which he was riding became stalled on the crossing of the defendant companies at Eleventh street and that an approaching train, despite the fact that the crew could see him, demolished the machine and severely injured him.

TEAMSTERS TIE UP THE CAPITAL

Vehicular Traffic Practically Suspended.

MANY SCENES OF VIOLENCE

In Rioting That Marked Efforts to Haul Stuff on Indianapolis Streets Several Persons Have Been Wounded—Drivers Decline to Except Friendly Firms Which Are Willing to "Sign Up" Until All Have Signed.

Indianapolis, Dec. 2.—Business conditions in this city are in a state of chaos owing to the strike of teamsters and chauffeurs, and though the city is not completely tied up, there is so much present difficulty in making deliveries and the future is so uncertain that practically all hauling has been abandoned. Attempts to send out wagons from mills, factories and wholesale and retail houses were met by squads of strikers' sympathizers, who stoned the drivers and drove them from their wagons. If the driver was fortunate enough to reach his destination unmolested he found the union employees at the place of delivery hostile, refusing to let him unload or shutting the door in his face and refusing to assist him.

No coal is being delivered anywhere, the dealers refusing to attempt deliveries after several of their drivers had been attacked and injured.

The teamsters voted down a proposition that team owners who agreed to recognize the teamsters' union would be permitted to resume business without fear of molestation. The proposition was made to the union leaders by a number of concerns which hoped that they would be excepted from the general strike order. The teamsters voted, however, not to except any concerns, besides those named in the original strike order, until all team owners in Indianapolis agree to recognize the union and grant its demands.

The first day of the strike was marked by much disorder in the downtown streets. Five persons were wounded in fights, and the police were called on repeatedly to quell disturbances or to rescue drivers who had been attacked by crowds of men.

FARMER INSTANTLY KILLED

Walter King of Shelby Slain by His Nephew, Harry Garver.

Shelbyville, Ind., Dec. 2.—Walter King, sixty years old, a wealthy retired farmer and money lender, who resided two miles east of Pleasant View, Shelby county, was shot and instantly killed in his home early last night by his nephew, Harry Garver, thirty-three years old. Garver escaped.

Mrs. Hannah Garver, mother of the slayer and sister of the dead man, was in a room adjacent to the one in which the shooting occurred and is the most important witness against her son. Mrs. Garver asserts that she heard her son and her brother quarreling loudly just prior to the moment the shot was fired.

The killing was done with a shotgun. The contents of the shell penetrated the heart and tore a huge gaping wound in the body of the victim. King died instantly. Mrs. Garver ran for help immediately after the shot was fired, and while she was away from home her son disappeared. It is believed that he started toward Indianapolis, where he has friends and relatives, and the police of that city were asked to assist in the search for him. Garver formerly was employed in Indianapolis by the streetcar company. He is said to be quick tempered and often offensive.

PRIVATE LIFE OF DR. CRAIG

Could Not Be Discussed Before Jury, Says Court.

Shelbyville, Ind., Dec. 2.—A statement of what the prosecution expects to prove against Dr. William B. Craig, the Indianapolis veterinarian, on trial here for the murder of Dr. Helen Knabe, was presented to the jury by Eph Inman, leading counsel for the state.

An objection to Inman's addressing the jury concerning the private life of Dr. Craig was sustained by Judge Blair, as were other objections made by Henry N. Spaan, leading counsel for the defendant. The court ruled, however, that it was proper for the state's attorney to tell the jury that Craig apparently had broken an engagement to marry Dr. Knabe.

Delay in Taggart Case.

Nashville, Ind., Dec. 2.—Judge Duree of the Brown circuit court and attorneys have agreed to continue the cases of Frank Taggart and wife, who are alleged to have murdered their niece. The case probably will come up for trial at the next term, which will open in March.

Pipe Set Auto on Fire.

Aurora, Ind., Dec. 2.—The automobile of Harry J. Hollowell was destroyed by fire and he was forced to jump from the machine when it was running about thirty miles an hour. Hollowell was smoking and it is supposed sparks from his pipe ignited gasoline.

TO CHANGE PLAN OF SEED DISTRIBUTION

Agricultural Department Has a New Idea.

SERIOUS DISCUSSION PROBABLE OUTCOMEReduction of Armaments Not An Idle Dream.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels regards his suggestion for an international conference to discuss means to a reduction of the costs of armaments as one of the most important features of his annual report just made public. He is of the opinion, however, that in having put forth the suggestion there is nothing further he can do toward advancing the idea. The next step must be taken by others.

Mr. Daniels thinks it not improbable that congress may see fit to take up his suggestion. The recent debate in the house regarding the proposal for a holiday in battleship building which Winston Churchill made to Germany is regarded by Secretary Daniels as most significant. He reminded those who discussed the subject with him that both Speaker Clark on the Democratic side and Representative Mann, leader on the Republican side, had expressed themselves heartily in favor of the resolution then pending, which proposed just what Mr. Daniels had in mind, a getting together of the powers for the purpose of agreeing on a program to reduce the burden of armaments.

It is expected this suggestion will form the subject of conversations the secretary will have in the next few weeks with members of the house and senate naval committees.

Representative Gray of Indiana has introduced a bill which would provide for an international conference here next fall for the purpose of agreeing to a plan for disarmament and suspension of naval construction programs. The bill would authorize an appropriation of $500,000 to be spent in entertaining the delegates from foreign powers.

REBELS CONTROL CHIHUAHUA CITY

Federals Flee at Approach of Villa's Army.

WEAKENS HUERTA'S CHANCES

Final Dislodgment of Federal Authority in the Great Northern State of Mexico Would Seem to Knock One of Dictator's Most Substantial Proofs Out From Under Him and Point to His Early Downfall.

El Paso, Dec. 2.—Reports have reached El Paso that Chihuahua City, capital of the state of the same name, has been abandoned by its federal defenders; that part of them have headed for Ojinaga, on the Texas border, northeast of Chihuahua City, and that the others are attempting to retreat south. The evacuation took place Sunday, following the return of the federals defeated by Villa near Juarez last week. The citizens have placed Frederico Moye, a business man, in temporary charge of the city pending the arrival of the rebel army of investment.

The capture of Juarez by the rebels under Pancho Villa was followed by the looting of many stores and the sale of goods to American dealers. This is confirmed from many sources in El Paso. The stock of merchandise will reach a total of a half million pesos.

There was a general shake-up among rebel officials in Juarez last night when Juan N. Medina, chief of staff to Villa, rebelled at being ordered to the front, and came to the American side. He was arrested over here and is now held in jail in El Paso. Several other rebel staff officers came over with him and are now being sought. Fifteen thousand dollars in gold and Villa's treasurer, Jose Covarrubiac, are also on this side.

Francisco Escudero, foreign minister in the provisional cabinet of Carranza, who is now here treating with Villa, has sounded a note of warning from the rebels to the United States relative to intervention or mediation.

"The fall of Huerta is inevitable and the only slight hope for him is the United States," said Escudero. "Any arrangement made by the United States with the defunct government will work ruin for Mexico, and will not be recognized by the Constitutional party. As minister of foreign relations I say that if the United States know how to deal with us they do not need to worry about the Japanese, for Mexico will be the country back of the United States at the Panama canal."

"We of Mexico do not fear European intervention. The only thing we do fear is the bad will of the United States toward us. We will be able to supply 500,000 men all fully equipped to defend the canal. No other country can do that. Let the United States be our sincere friend and treat us with patience, and in the end the United States will have our hearts."

THE DOWNFALL OF HUERTA

Expected to Come About by Logical Consequence.

Washington, Dec. 2.—With the northern revolutionists meeting with continued success, the Wilson administration sees no reason to alter its policy of waiting for the fall of Huerta. President Wilson, it is understood, feels that the revolutionists are proceeding rapidly toward the accomplishment of what he has declared to have been his program now for nine months, that is, the ousting of President Huerta.

William Bayard Hale, President Wilson's unofficial investigator and negotiator, has returned to Washington after a series of discussions with General Carranza, the Constitutional leader, and his chief associates. He had a long talk with Secretary Bryan and will be received by President Wilson at an early date.

Further reports from Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the American warships on the east coast of Mexico, say that General Aguilar, leader of the revolutionary forces which control the greater part of the oil region, has assured him again that he will not order or permit destruction of the oil properties owned by American and British citizens. The federal commanders at Tampico and Tuxpan have likewise assured Admiral Fletcher that they will do their utmost to prevent any destruction of the properties of foreigners in the oil district. It is understood also that each side has given its word not to interfere with the operation of the oil properties. This latter assurance is taken with a grain of salt, however, for each side has held thus far that the refusal of any oil company to pay "taxes" or forced loans constitutes action justifying the retaliation, which is not to be regarded as interference.

Pindell Gets Another Chance.

Washington, Dec. 2.—President Wilson will renominate Henry M. Pindell, the Peoria publisher, for ambassador to Russia. Mr. Pindell failed of confirmation in the extra session of Congress. The president will also renominate all other appointees who failed.

A Real Nerve and Body Building Medicine

When you're sick or run-down, keep away from so-called "tonics." The alcohol and dangerous drugs many of them contain stimulate you for a few minutes after the dose is taken—then leave you worse off than ever. You cannot get well by taking stimulants. You are liable to get worse.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is not a stimulant. It is a real nerve and body and blood-building medicine. It puts the system into shape to overcome present and resist future sickness. It does not contain a drop of alcohol nor anything else harmful. But it builds you up, makes you feel better, stronger, livelier—not the first hour—but after a few days, when the strengthening, toning and tissue-building ingredients have had a chance to work through your blood into those muscles and organs that need their vitality-giving help. The four Hypophosphites it contains strengthens the nerves while purest Olive Oil nourishes them.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is an ideal, common-sense invigorator and up-builder. There is direct benefit to you in every one of its ingredients. You who are weak and run-down, and you who are apparently well now, but are liable to suffer from various cold weather ailments, use Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion to get and keep well and strong. For the tired-out, run-down, nervous, emaciated or debilitated—the convalescing—growing children—aged people—it is a sensible aid to renewed strength, better spirits, glowing health.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion—king of the celebrated Rexall Remedies—is for freedom from sickness of you and your family. Pleasant-tasting, containing no alcohol or dangerous drugs, you'll be as enthusiastic about it as we are when you have noted its strengthening, invigorating, building up, disease-preventing effects. If it does not help you, your money will be given back to you without argument. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of more than 7,000 leading drug stores in the United States, Canada and Great Britain. Lytle's Drug Store, Corner Main and Third streets, Rushville, Ind.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only stop the topical canker or irritate where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. stops the itch at once. We just want you to give D.D.D. a trial. That will be enough to prove it.

Of course all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee:—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE it costs you not a cent.

Hair Doesn't Die--
It Has To Be Killed

Hair often continues to live and grow long after the death of the body. But it is often killed through neglect or misuse. Almost always the woman or man whose hair is falling out, or is stringy, lifeless and dull-looking, is entirely to blame because of not giving it the proper care. It is easy to take care of the hair—easy to make it more beautiful. Use Harmony Hair Beautifier, to make it glossy, soft and silky, and Harmony Shampoo to keep hair and scalp thoroughly clean.

Harmony Hair Beautifier, delightfully perfumed with true rose, is very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. It contains no oil, and will not change the color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo is most convenient to use, giving an instantaneous rich, foaming lather that immediately penetrates to every part of the hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. It is washed off just as quickly, the entire operation taking only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair, and leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made. PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS tice toward the people of Porto Rico by giving the ample and familiar rights and privileges accorded our own citizens in our own territories and our obligations toward the people of Hawaii by perfecting the provisions for self government already granted them, but in the Philippines we must go further. We must hold steadily in view their ultimate independence, and we must move toward the time of that independence as steadily as the way can be cleared and the foundations thoughtfully and permanently laid.

Acting under the authority conferred upon the president by congress, I have already accorded the people of the islands a majority in both houses of their legislative body by appointing five instead of four native citizens to the membership of the commission. I believe that in this way we shall make proof of their capacity in counsel and their sense of responsibility in the exercise of political power and that the success of this step will be sure to clear our view for the steps which are to follow.

Step by step we should extend and perfect the system of self government in the islands, making test of them and modifying them as experience discloses their successes and their failures; that we should more and more put under the control of the native citizens of the archipelago the essential instruments of their life, their local instrumentalities of government, their schools, all the common interests of their communities and so by counsel and experience set up a government which all the world will see to be suitable to a people whose affairs are under their own control.

At last, I hope and believe, we are beginning to gain the confidence of the Filipino peoples. By their counsel and experience, rather than by our own, we shall learn how best to serve them and how soon it will be possible and wise to withdraw our supervision. Let us once find the path and set out with firm and confident tread upon it, and we shall not wander from it or linger upon it.

PROBLEM IN ALASKA.

Urge Development by Nation of Natural Resources and Full Territorial Form of Government.

A duty faces us with regard to Alaska which seems to me very pressing and very imperative; perhaps I should say a double duty, for it concerns both the political and the material development of the territory. The people of Alaska should be given the full territorial form of government, and Alaska, as a storehouse, should be unlocked. One key to it is a system of railroads. These the government should itself build and administer, and the ports and terminals it should itself control in the interest of all who wish to use them for the service and development of the country and its people.

But the construction of railroads is only the first step—it is only thrusting in the key to the storehouse and throwing back the lock and opening the door. How the tempting resources of the country are to be exploited is another matter, to which I shall take the liberty of from time to time calling your attention, for it is a policy which must be worked out by well considered stages, not upon theory but upon lines of practical expediency. It is part of our general problem of conservation. We have a freer hand in working out the problem in Alaska than in the states of the Union, and yet the principle and object are the same wherever we touch it. We must use the resources of the country, not lock them up.

There need be no conflict or jealousy between state and federal authorities, for there can be no essential difference of purpose between them. The resources in question must be used, but not destroyed or wasted; used, but not monopolized upon any narrow idea of individual rights as against the abiding interests of communities. That a policy can be worked out by conference and concession which will release these resources and yet not jeopardize them I for one have no doubt, and it can be done on lines of regulation which need be no less acceptable to the people and government of the nation at large, whose heritage these resources are. We must bend our counsels to this end. A common purpose ought to make agreement easy.

EMPLOYER'S LIABILITY ACT.

Urge Legislation to Safeguard Workers Both on Land and Sea—Points Out Needed Economic Reforms.

Three or four matters of special importance and significance I beg that you will permit me to mention in closing.

Our bureau of mines ought to be equipped and empowered to render even more effectual service than it renders now in improving the conditions of mine labor and making the mines more economically productive as well as more safe. This is an all important part of the work of conservation, and the conservation of human life and energy lies even nearer to our interest

PRESIDENT MAKES KNOWN HIS PHILIPPINE POLICY.

President Wilson's policy toward the Philippine Islands is made clear in his message. He urges the development of the Philippines, always keeping in view ultimate independence of the islanders. While he does not believe they are ready for self government today he believes that eventually they will be. He points out improvement that has recently been made by calling attention to the fact that more natives have been appointed on the Philippine commission than was the case previously.

than the preservation from waste of our material resources.

We owe it in mere justice to the railway employees of the country to provide for them a fair and effective employer's liability act; and a law that we can stand by in this matter will be no less to the advantage of those who administer the railroads of the country than to the advantage of those whom they employ. The experience of a large number of the states abundantly proves this.

We ought to devote ourselves to meeting pressing demands of plain justice like this as earnestly as to the accomplishment of political and economic reforms. Social justice comes first. Law is the machinery for its realization and is vital only as it expresses and embodies it.

An international congress for the discussion of all questions that affect safety at sea is now sitting in London at the suggestion of our own government. So soon as the conclusions of that congress can be learned, and considered we ought to address ourselves, among other things, to the prompt alleviation of the very unsafe, unjust and burdensome conditions which now surround the employment of sailors and render it extremely difficult to obtain the services of spirited and competent men such as every ship needs if it is to be safely handled and brought to port.

May I not express the very real pleasure I have experienced in co-operating with this congress and sharing with it the labors of common service to which it has devoted itself so unreservedly during the past seven months of uncomplaining concentration upon the business of legislation? Surely it is a proper and pertinent part of my report on "The State of the Union" to express my admiration for the diligence, the good temper and the full comprehension of public duty which has already been manifested by both the houses, and I hope that it may not be deemed an impertinent intrusion of myself into the picture if I say with how much and how constant satisfaction I have availed myself of the privilege of putting my time and energy at their disposal alike in counsel and in action. WOODROW WILSON.

The credit? Bless your soul, there isn't any credit. That is, unless you call some child's happy tears credit; or unless the consciousness, Christmas morning, that you have helped some one else to be happy is credit. The Good Fellows don't want any, and as for The Republican it doesn't deserve any. The thing that it is doing is the thing that any institution would be proud to do.

It is the idea of personal service. You don't hand the money over to somebody else to spend. You go out and investigate. You inquire; you see and weigh, and sometimes you feel very deeply. Then you do as your purse and conscience dictate. It is exclusively your affair.

The Good Fellowship league takes the place of the Santa Claus fund for the reason that the spirit of giving enters more vitally into the plan and givers gets more good from assistance given the little tots who would have no Christmas were it not for the Good Fellows.

The plan's as simple as can be. The workers in the Rushville charity organization get the names of the people, particularly the little folks, who need Christmas, as they have always done for the Santa Claus fund. All honor to them.

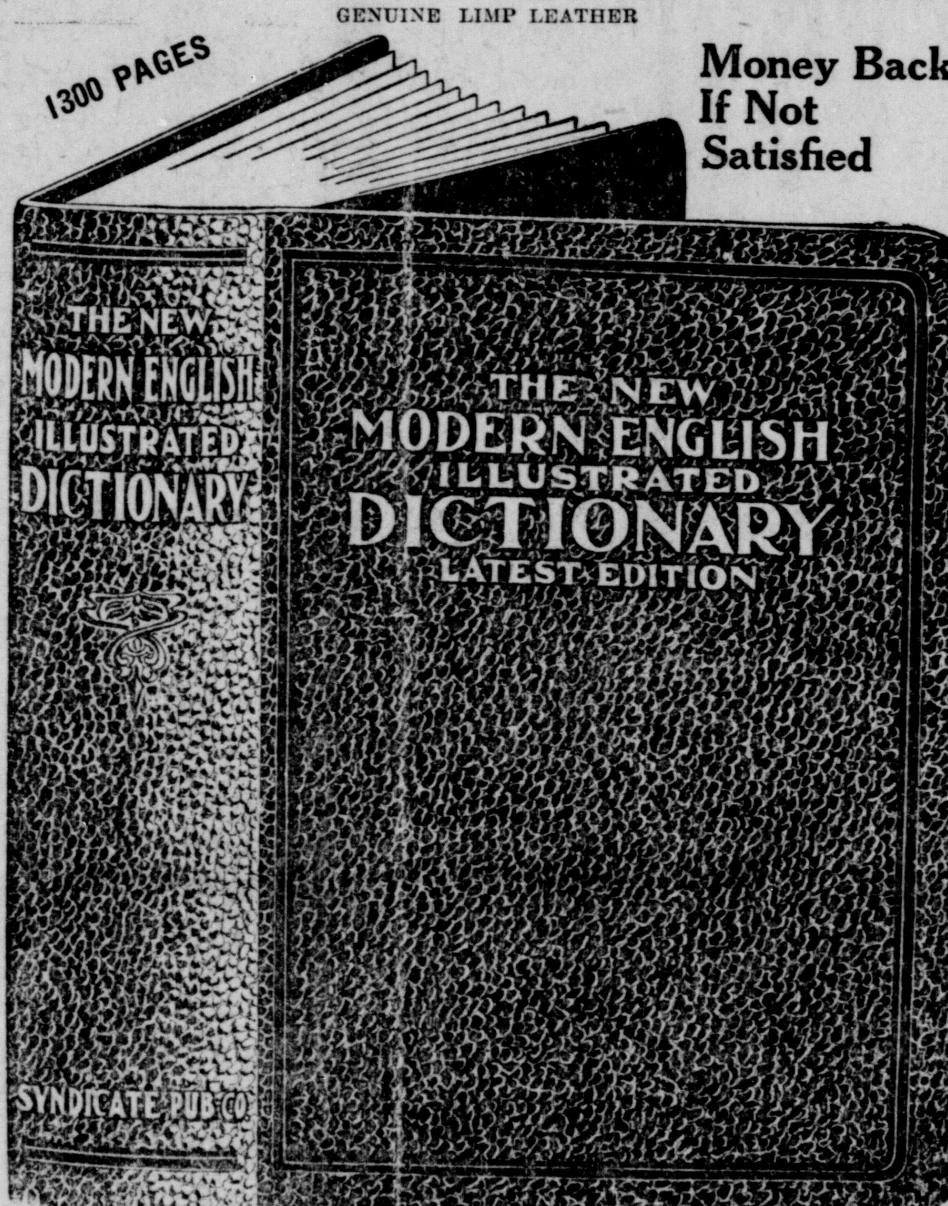

The Good Fellows report to the Republican that they will play Santa Claus for one, two or a half dozen, or for one or a half dozen families, as they may desire. The Republican makes the connection, that's all. The list will be on file at the office here. The Republican is clearing house.

It is probably unnecessary to say that nobody knows who the Good Fellows are, and nobody but the particular Good Fellow who handles a particular case knows who benefits by the plan. There are no records, you see. The league hasn't any president, or any secretary, or any other officer.

Many dictionaries of various kinds have been placed on the market, but none could pass muster with THE DAILY REPUBLICAN. Finally a large publishing house of New York City brought together the world's greatest authorities on the English language and the result is this New Modern English Illustrated Dictionary, which a syndicate of leading newspapers immediately secured for the purpose of following out a plan of education throughout the country. So for a short time THE DAILY REPUBLICAN, in connection with these other papers, will offer this LATEST dictionary on the remarkable terms outlined herein, before it is placed on sale at the stores at the regular retail prices.

A WONDERFUL NEW DICTIONARY

"The vocabulary contains MORE of the latest words than does any other dictionary of language now published. The illustrations are nothing less than genuine works of art."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

This Dictionary has never been offered in this city before . . .

Heretofore practically all dictionaries have been but revisions of the uncopied editions of the original book turned out by Noah Webster previous to his death in 1843, whereas in this book is combined the greatest modern authorities from the largest seats of learning, who have produced a new compilation based upon Websterian principles rather than a mere revision of the obsolete work. Revised and brought to its present state of perfection after the best and latest authorities on language under the chief editorship of
